Readers relax while waiting for the bus. A man stood still while the rain kept falling. Then he left the station while it was getting dark.